nbkc bank

Open a First-Time Kansas Homebuyer Savings Account

Are you interested in saving for your first dream home with tax advantages?

Kansas state income taxpayers may qualify for a state income tax deduction through the First-Time Homebuyer Savings Account program. To be eligible for the benefits, you must open a qualified account that you designate specifically for purchasing your first-time home. The nbkc Money Market account that earns you interest is perfect!

Eligible contributions under this program may qualify for Kansas income tax deductions of up to $3,000 for single filers and up to $6,000 for joint filers if program conditions and requirements are met. See important program information below.

Ready to start saving for your dream home?

nbkc offers a great account to help you save for your first home! The nbkc Money Market account offers all the flexible options you need to save for your dream home. This account boasts most of the benefits of a checking account but with an even higher rate, no monthly fees, and no minimum balance fees.

Visit nbkc.com/homesavings to open your account today!

For full eligibility and program details, consult your tax advisor and the Kansas State Treasurer's Office.

Open your nbkc Money Market account today

Don't live in the State of Kansas?

Consult with your state's taxing authority and tax advisor to see if your state offers a similar program, and if an nbkc account can help meet your homeownership goals.

Important Program Information

You must meet certain requirements for this program and potential tax advantages, including being a qualified first-time home buyer. Maximum contribution limits, account limits, and overall contribution limits under this program apply. Use of funds are restricted for qualified purposes only after the account has been established and funded for a certain period. Failure to adequately maintain the account could result in additional taxation and penalties. Full details can be found at https://kansascash.ks.gov/homebuyer.html

Each individual taxpayer/account holder is responsible for the maintenance, reporting, and management of these accounts in accordance with state tax and other applicable laws and regulations. nbkc bank is not responsible for designating or managing these accounts as First-Time Homebuyer Savings Accounts with the State of Kansas or any other state, or for ensuring taxpayer/account holder qualifications, eligibility, or compliance with the program. Consult your tax advisor and your state's taxing authority for advice.

Member FDIC
EQUAL HOUSING LENDER